Essential Immune Boost

You know how important a strong immune system is in preventing illness and preserving health. Science has shown that nutritional supplements can be a valuable ally in the fight against disease and formation of a healthy immune system.

Action in defense of children

Children are constantly under attack by germs, viruses and bacteria. It's part of life. Fortunately, there are effective ways to fortify your child's immune system and fend off the many assailants to good health. As they say, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. How true it is. Being proactive is a much better health strategy than just reacting to illness and medical problems as they arise. We can help you take the appropriate action.

Know the signs and the solution

How can you tell when your child may be experiencing low immune system condition? There are over 1500 symptoms of deficient immune systems in children. The most common ones include:

- Rash
- Vomiting
- Fever
- Headache
- Cough
- Runny nose
- Pain
- Abdominal pain
- Nausea
- Vision changes

You already know what the results of a low immune system can be. Colds. Flu. Missed days at school. Lack of energy and focus. And a general malaise that can make life much more difficult. Don't worry, reinforcements are at hand. The solution is a liquid nutritional supplement specifically designed to bolster immune systems in children.

A formula for better health

TuffPlay nutritional supplement protects and enhances your child's natural immune system. It helps rebuild and balance the thymus gland (particularly important in children) and strengthens muscles, tissues and bones. In fact, this product contains synergistically balanced ingredients that help build a vital and responsive immune defense.

In addition, spleen tissue factors have been added to support spleen health. A healthy spleen can influence the lymph and blood systems and help normalize the immune system. Our scientific formula also contains herbal components which are proven to assist and boost a healthy immune system during cold and flu season.

Good for kids, good for you

With TuffPlay, your child will receive valuable nutrients in a great tasting liquid form. And because it's highly concentrated, dosage amounts are smaller and easier to take. Kids like that. Parents like the many other benefits our supplement offers:

Why Liquid Nutritional Supplements Are Superior

- Easy to take—Especially for children who reject chewables or won't swallow tablets or capsules.
- Maximum absorption—Liquids do not need to be dissolved by the body. In fact, absorption begins in the mouth resulting in 80-90% absorption compared to tablet absorption of 10-40%.
- Convenient and versatile—Can be added to foods or liquids.

As a parent you now have one less worry. TuffPlay Essential Immune Boost supplement helps strengthen your child's immune system and overall health. Give your child a better defense against germs and viruses. Your child will be happier and healthier – and so will you!
